Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Mr. Bradlaugh Proved Utterly Unfit to Represent Any English Constituency: An Appeal to the Men of England It is gratifying to know to how large an extent the Appeal to the Men of England has check-mated Mr. Bradlaugh. I rejoice in this because the contest is one in which issues of very grave character are involved. This question is not one of party politics, much less is it a question of the infringement of the rights of a constituency. No one knows better than Mr. Bradlaugh does that the opposition which exists against him arises from his own lawless conduct. For many years, on hundreds of platforms in England, he has uttered the most revolting, atheistic, and social blasphemies. Through the medium of the press he has circulated these shocking statements by hundreds of thousands. This has been done to further his atheistic principles when, under the self-assumed title of Iconoclast, he went through the Country using the vile language, samples of which are furnished in This Appeal. Beyond this, he has circulated books which are loathsome and abominable. These disgusting publications teach doctrines and practices which are subversive of the Divine institutions of home, marriage, social purity, and national morality. It must not be forgotten that, for publishing and circulating The Fruits of Philosophy, Mr. Charles Bradlaugh and the abnormal Mrs. Besant were tried, found guilty, and sentenced to six months imprisonment. Mr. Bradlaugh never tires of appealing to the sympathies of his fellow countrymen on the ground of political liberty. In doing this, I charge him with political dishonesty. Few men know better than he does how to draw a red herring across...
